

The P. C.
Editor Says:

When the W. C. T. U. is in session in Sikeston next Wednesday they might be able to have some real discussion if they will visit our numerous saloons, clubs, road houses and joints. They might begin their visits at 9:00 p. m. and keep going until the wee small hours of the morning and see some sights that would give them some real shocks.

Just why the Highway Patrol is called in to police the city when we have city officers, we don't know. Every time a home is entered, the Patrol is called. Every time a fight is pulled off, the Patrol is called. The Highway Patrol is supposed to patrol the highways to see all cars are properly equipped, are driven by sober men or women, to see all carry license, to watch out for reckless driving, etc., but when any local cussedness is pulled then the Patrol is called to handle the case.

We fail to see why the President should get so excited because Republicans in some states see fit to vote for the Democrat who the President opposes. That is good politics to create trouble in the opposition ranks and hand an upper cut to the President. The President hasn't handled the political situations in some states with kid gloves and the Democrats he is attempting to "purge" have a right to ask Republicans to support them when the Republicans know they have no chance to elect one of their partisans.

A letter from David Blanton written from New Orleans, Monday stated he and Ralph Reid arrived in that city Sunday night at 10:00 o'clock and was enjoying the sights of that city. That they would sail on a United Fruit Company steamer Wednesday forenoon for a 10-day cruise as far south as British Honduras and would return to New Orleans September 2nd and to Sikeston Labor Day.

When a middle West couple applied for social security, fund authorities observed that their ownership of an organ indicated some degree of wealth. They replied: "I spoke we could sell the organ to get money, but ever since we red about having a radio to help the cows give milk we moved the organ into the shed and ma plays while I milk Daisy. It helps a lot."

Again liquor has been the downfall of a mighty good man. When an old man takes to drinking in an attempt to drown his sorrows he makes one more mistake. He frequently does things that he wouldn't do if in his sober senses which bring disgrace to family and friends and remorse to himself, and when a young man takes to hard liquor he spends the money that his wife and children need for food and clothing.

There may be difference of opinion as to the merits of the various individuals who have been mentioned to date for the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee, but there is no contention over who the committee's next publicity director should be. Democrats from every section of the state are unanimous in the belief that William P. Harvey, of Kansas City, should be retained in this most important position. During the past four years Bill Harvey, as he is affectionately known, has rendered yeoman's service to the Democratic Party. His brilliant writings, sparkling with logic and foundation on irrefutable fact, not only have contributed largely to Democratic success in Missouri, but have attracted national attention and won commendation from high party chieftains in Washington. The Democracy of Missouri needs the able pen of Bill Harvey at its state committee publicity desk—he is one of the party's best and most valuable assets.—Jefferson City Capital News.

Sikeston Democrats will vote 'er straight in November. Some didn't get the candidate they wanted in the August primary, but being Democrats and believing in majority rule they will take the nominees without any trouble.

Sikeston Public Schools Open Sept. 6

Vacancies Created by Resignation of 2 Newly Hired Teachers

Sikeston Public Schools will open for the 1938-39 session on Tuesday, Sept. 6, at 8:40 a. m., according to Supt. R. A. Harper. School will not open on Labor Day this year as has been the custom due to the American Legion convention at Cape Girardeau, that day. The High School band is to participate at Cape Girardeau, and it is likely a large number of local students will also be in attendance. Only a half-day session will be held the first day.

Due to recent resignations, two High School teachers are yet to be employed. Margaret Patterson of Parma, and Max Thompson of McComb, Ill., both newly hired, requested and obtained releases from their contracts from the School Board. Miss Patterson, who taught at Dexter last year, resigned to accept a position in New York City with the American Institute of Science. Mr. Thompson resigned to accept a position teaching chemistry at Alton, Ill.

Students in grades 9, 10, 11 and 12 will enroll during the week previous to the opening of school. In order to prevent pupils having to wait they will be enrolled alphabetically according to the following schedule:

ENROLLMENT HOURS
Grade 12—Tuesday, Aug. 30, names A to G, 8:30 to 10:00; H to M, 10:00 to 11:30; N to Z, 1:30 to 3:00.
Grade 11—Wednesday, Aug. 31, A to G, 8:30 to 10:00; H to M, 10:00 to 11:30; N to Z, 1:30 to 3:00.

Grade 10—Thursday, Sept. 1, A to G, 8:30 to 10:00; H to M, 10:00 to 11:30; N to Z, 1:30 to 3:00.
Grade 9—Friday, Sept. 2, A to G, 8:30 to 10:00; H to M, 10:00 to 11:30; N to Z, 1:30 to 3:00.

In order to expedite enrolling as much as possible, students should study this schedule carefully and enroll at the designated time, Mr. Harper said. However, in case a student is unable to enroll at the proper time he will be enrolled the first day of school. Parents are welcome to come with students to enroll.

The activity fee will be the same as last year—$1 for each semester payable in advance. Each student should pay $1 at the time of enrolling.
New courses to be offered this year are: Senior science, economics, sociology, and government.

Room is being provided in the high school to house all the seventh and eighth pupils. These grades will become a part of the high school. All teachers will have degrees and teach only in the fields of their major and minor preparation. Since there are no electives in the seventh and eighth grades these pupils will be enrolled by their home room teachers on the morning of Sept. 6.

WILL RESET BOUNDARY
For the first day of school the boundary line between the South Grade School and the Bailey School will remain as formerly. Indications are that the boundary will have to be relocated in order to relieve the crowded conditions in the Bailey building.

High school books will be practically the same as last year, with changes in one section of citizenship and one section of American history. All of the required grade books have been delivered.
Considerable improvements have been made around the school plant this summer, among which are: Sidewalks at Bailey building and south grade, new bleachers on football field, desk tops refinished in study halls at High School and South Grade, all buildings thoroughly scrubbed and disinfected, all stairways refinished, windows washed inside and out.

Teachers are beginning to arrive in town for the year's work and all indications point to a splendid school year in Sikeston.
High School students should study the schedule for enrolling next week and come at the designated time.

Teachers selected for the coming term are:

ENTERTAIN CARAVAN

The local post Monday afternoon entertained a caravan of six floats, a pilot car and another car filled with Legionnaires from several parts of Mississippi that is en route to the national Legion convention in Los Angeles, Sept. 19 to 22.

As guests at the clubhouse, the Mississippians were treated to cold drinks by Auxiliary members for a half-hour, and they then paraded through the city. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee of Vicksburg, Miss., headed the caravan, and in the group was Miss Elaine Russell, of Vicksburg, designated "Miss American Legion."

From Sikeston the flotilla went to Cape Girardeau, where the Cape Post gave the visitors a banquet. At the dinner speakers included Mrs. C. L. Malone, district auxiliary committeewoman, of Sikeston. Spending the night in Cape Girardeau, the caravan departed in the morning for St. Louis.

The caravan was made possible by a $25,000 appropriation from the Mississippi State Legislature. It is expected to arrive in Los Angeles on Sept. 17 after a 1750-mile journey. They were 15 people in the group.

INVITED TO CAPE

Henry Meldrum Post has invited the High School band, the girls' drum and bugle corps of the High School and the Sons of the American Legion drum and bugle corps to witness the contests in senior and junior divisions of the drum and bugle corps at the forthcoming state fair.

Suit Settled Out Of Court

Poplar Bluff Man Asked Damages From Collision

After the Court had heard testimony Monday morning and the case had gone to the jury, parties in the Gillis-Levine accident suit agreed to set the case aside and settle out of court, at Benton in Circuit Court.

Damages totaling $10,000 were asked.

A. J. Gillis of Poplar Bluff claimed in his suit that the automobile of Bob Levine, St. Louis, collided with his car at Klug's Hill nine miles north of the city, during a heavy fog last December while the Levine car was on the wrong side of the highway. Levine was chauffeured by a negro, Frank Devore. The three persons suffered cuts and bruises. Devore told the Highway Patrol at the time that he was blinded by the fog.

In settling the submission aside and settling without a jury, $1375 damages were paid Gillis.

A jury Tuesday morning found in favor of the defendant, Mrs. Chloe Rochelle, in a suit filed by the City of Chaffee, charging she did not procure a dancing permit to run a dance hall in connection with a tavern. Mrs. Rochelle claimed she did not run a dance hall and was not bound to buy the license.

Number Drawing Held To Be Lottery

Jefferson City, Aug. 24.—The Attorney General's office ruled today that a scheme whereby an automobile dealer places the serial number of each car sold in a box and makes drawing at the end of each week refunding the purchase price to the buyer whose number is drawn, is a lottery in violation of state laws.
The opinion was asked by W. Randall Smart, member of the State House of Representatives from Kansas City.

Jury Acquits Emerson Of Morley Kidnaping Charge

Business Men Hurt In Wreck

Executives in Collision On Route 55, Near Oran

Three persons were hurt at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening when a car containing four business executives and another driven by a Frisco railroad engineer of Chaffee collided on Highway 55 two miles north of Oran.

The wife of the engineer, Mrs. Frank Williams, suffered a bruised hip and two broken ribs. M. E. Rowan, of 13th and Locust, St. Louis, suffered a broken knee cap and C. J. Shannessy of New York City a head injury.

The injured were treated by Dr. W. O. Finney of Chaffee and taken to St. Francis Hospital, Cape Girardeau. Rowman was transferred early Wednesday to St. John's Hospital, St. Louis, where he underwent an operation on his knee.

State Patrolman John Tandy was told that Rowan, 45 driving a V-8 four-passenger coupe, was headed north on Highway 55 and Williams, in a Dodge sedan, was coming east on a side road. The cars met at the intersection. The front of the Dodge and the right side of the Dodge were damaged.

Rowman Miller, 13th and Locust, St. Louis, and S. W. Donough, New York City, were passengers, along with Shannessy in the Ford driven by Rowan and owned by Graydon Allen of Dexter. The first two were not hurt.

M. E. Rowman is vice-president and Rowman Miller factory superintendent of the Elder Manufacturing Co. of St. Louis, which has a branch factory at Dexter. These men, with Shannessy and Donough, who are executives of Montgomery Ward & Co., had been to the Dexter plant. The car they came in developed trouble and they had borrowed the Ulen car to return to St. Louis. Williams was only shaken up and was able to pilot the night passenger train to Memphis, his regular run.

Auto, Truck Sideswipe

Mrs. Cecil Godwin of Buckeye Injured

Mrs. Cecil Godwin, who lives a half-mile south of Buckeye on the Buckeye Plantation, suffered a broken right hand and three broken fingers, as well as minor cuts, when the automobile in which she was riding was sideswiped by a truck Thursday morning two miles north of Benton on Highway 60.

Roy Godwin, a son, was driving the car, headed north en route to Wood River, Ill. The truck was coming south and did not stop. Three other children also were in the car. Other than Mrs. Godwin, those in the car received only a shaking up.

The car did not turn over but the woman was thrown from it to the pavement.

She was treated by Dr. A. A. Mayfield here, and taken to her home Monday morning.

New Trial Asked In Presnell Suit

A motion for a new trial in the case of Ivie Lewis vs. Dr. G. W. Presnell, asking $10,000 damages in the accidental death of Willard Ross, was filed in Circuit Court Tuesday. A jury at Benton last Friday found in favor of Dr. Presnell, who in the suit was charged with negligence when Ross, on a motorcycle, collided with the physicians car here in May, 1937, and was instantly killed.

A number of allegations were set forth in the motion for a new trial. No date was stipulated by Judge Frank Kelly to act on the motion. Lewis filed the suit as administrator for the Ross heirs.

Hart received word by telegram Thursday that their son, Harry, Jr., would fly home from Annapolis, Md., where he attends the naval academy, on Friday with the young man's cousin, Major K. S. Axatzer, of the U. S. Army Air Corps. It is not known if they will land at Sikeston or Scott Field, Ill.

Bob Law Sentenced and Paroled

Pleading guilty to burglary and larceny in connection with a break-in early last Saturday at the White Drug Store here, Bob Law of Sikeston was given a two-year sentence and then paroled to his son, James Law, in Circuit Court Monday.

The man was charged with smashing a front door glass, entering the store and taking $60 from a cash drawer. He was caught by police a few hours afterward and confessed the deed. All but 75 cents of the money was recovered.

Fred English Goes To Trial

Case Opens at Benton on Robbery Attempt Charge

The trial of Fred English, 52, Paducah, Ky., man charged with assault with attempt to rob, convened at Circuit Court in Benton Thursday morning and continued into the afternoon.

English is charged with being an accomplice of William Faulkner, another Paducah resident, when the two allegedly attempted a holdup last winter at the Bartels Store in Cape Girardeau. One of the store officials raised a cry at the time and the two persons escaped.

Faulkner and English later were arrested in Paducah, and Faulkner was identified in the Bartels case and also as one of two men who held up and escaped with $2000 at the Graber Dept. Store here last fall. English, whom witnesses claimed was with Faulkner at Cape Girardeau, was not identified in the Graber robbery.

The case on trial Thursday came from Cape County on a change of venue. Faulkner pleaded guilty to the Bartels charge and is now serving a sentence in prison.

Deliberates 30 Minutes Over Laborer's Fate

Six Witnesses Testify Against Defendant, Who Denied Abducting Black

Deliberating only 30 minutes, a Circuit Court jury at Benton Wednesday night returned a verdict of not guilty in the trial of A. B. Emerson, 23-years-old Blomeyer laborer charged with kidnaping Clyde Black of Black Bros. Store in Morley.

The case, which began at 9 a. m. Wednesday, went to the jury at 5:40 p. m.

Kidnaping in Missouri carries a penalty of five years to death. The case was probably the first kidnaping trial in Scott County, as court attaches could not recall a previous one.

Without any defense witnesses other than himself, the short, sparsely built youth from Blomeyer testified he did not force the Morley store owner into his automobile on the Saturday afternoon of June 25, nor that he demanded ransom.

The state, through Black and six other witnesses, sought to prove that the store owner was forced to leave his store and enter the automobile, that he feared Emerson had a gun and that the laborer demanded money of him under threats on his life.

QUARREL CLAIMED

Emerson's explanation of having Black in the automobile when both were taken from the car, bloody, by a group of highway road workers south of Sikeston, was that the two had quarreled and fought over whether Black had been paying attention to the defendant's wife.

The defense also stressed the difference in sizes of the two men. Black is of large stature.

Robert Foster, young employee of the Black Bros. Store, told the Court Emerson drove up before the store on the afternoon of June 25, and ordered the store man to get into the car or he would kill him. Foster said he was commanded to get inside the store with the same threat.

Black related he was taken on Highway 53 past Chaffee, to a point near the Diversion Channel bridge, where, he testified, Emerson stopped his old-model automobile and demanded $100. When he surrendered his billfold, which contained only $15, Black told the Court, Emerson threw down the wallet, seized a pair of pliers and struck him on the head, inflicting a gash. All the time, he stated, he believed the youth carried a gun in his right trousers pocket.

CAME TO SIKESTON

Black testified Emerson drove him to Sikeston in order that he could obtain at the bank here the necessary ransom. Instead of turning into the business district, however, the car continued past the intersection until Emerson was forced to stop near the south "Y" because of road repair operations.

Wade Malcolm, in charge of the work, and three helpers testified they saw Black with the blood on him and asked what he had been doing. Black told them he had been struck by the car driver, it was stated, and when the men asked the Morley business man why he did not leave the car, Black was declared to have replied: "I'm afraid of him. He has a gun."

The highway workers said they seized Emerson, found he did not have a gun and helped Black from the car.

Emerson was arrested later the same day at Chaffee by a deputy.

Ed Boals of Benton from the witness chair recounted a conversation he said took place between him and Emerson after the alleged kidnaping. Boals' testimony was that Emerson boasted how Black, in response to the demand for $100 ransom, had offered to compromise for $15, which he rejected.

No Competition Cause Of High Farm Machine Costs

The ability of the International Harvester company to make more net profit in 1937 than it made in 1929 (in fact, enough to break all records) though the cash income of the farmers for 1937 was nearly 16 per cent less than the 1929 can, the commission believes, have only one explanation. It was the result of the policy by the International to advance prices, which policy could not have succeeded if conditions of free and open competition had prevailed in this industry.

The conclusions of the commission regarding the high rate of earnings of the International company are strongly supported by its conclusions regarding the earnings of Deere & Co., the second largest producer of farm machinery in the United States.

For the 10-year period, 1927 to 1936, Deere & Co. averaged net profits per year on the total investment in its farm machinery business of approximately 12 per cent. The net earnings for this company for 1937 were the highest in its history, with the single exception of 1929.

The net earnings for 1937 were only 1.6 per cent less than they were in 1929. If the profits of 1937 were added to those of the period 1927 to 1936, the average rate of return realized by Deere & Co. for this 11-year period would have exceeded 12.7 per cent.—From the report to Congress of an investigation by the Federal Trade commission.

Low Farm Prices Vividly Show Crop Control Needs

If the present "abundant farm production" and resultant lower prices for agricultural products do not furnish a complete argument for permanent control of farm output, human reasoning seems to have been exhausted. There are persons, safe behind city jobs and a number of reactionary Republicans who, for partisan purposes, still advocate "superabundance" in farm production.

25-Cent Fee For Trout Fishing Goes Into Effect

Jefferson City, Aug. 22.—Requests and recommendation from sportsmen who fish in Bennett Springs, Montauk, and Roaring River state parks that the trout fishing facilities of these parks be made even better led the Missouri Conservation Commission and the State Park Board to announce this week that a fee of 25 cents per day would be charged for fishing in these areas.

The new regulation becomes effective Sept. 1.

According to plans of the Conservation Commission, all fishing service fees received from each state park will be used for propagation of trout and the betterment of fishing conditions in the park from which the revenue is derived.

Commenting on the service fee to be charged for fishing in Montauk, Bennett Springs, and Roaring River state parks, I. T. Rode, director of the commission, said: "There has been built up in these state parks a rather intensified and specialized type of fishing which is meeting the demand of a large group of people. The number of people participating in this activity increases each year, and the cost of maintaining proper services is mounting in proportion. Because this type of fishing is of such a highly specialized form, it does not seem justifiable to use as large a percentage of state-wide fisheries work funds to maintain the fishing facilities in these parks, as the maintenance demands; for so doing, the fisheries work in other sections would suffer."

"To improve the fishing facilities at these state parks or even maintain them as they now are is more expensive than the Conservation Commission can justify, unless some provision is made whereby the fishing in the park areas can carry a part of the burden. This charge is therefore a nominal service fee, the same as is charged for camping and other similar services."

dren should dread the fire, every grower of exportable crops should realize after this repetition of big yields and depressed prices for wheat, corn and cotton that they must adopt the centuries-old program of business and supply only for demand. They should waste neither their labor nor their topsoil in trying to set up an economy for the farm that had been discarded by the linen makers in the days of Abraham.

Agriculture not only has present worries, but the pressure of the carryover of 1937 and of this year in all farm staples should cause the tillers to agree to a sharp reduction in planted acreage for 1939. It will be many a day until farm "inventories" are reduced in the face of the unusually large world supply.—Wm. P. Harvey.

Washington Comment

The use of the word "purge", in the sense of getting rid of a person or a group politically, dates well back into English history, though for a long time it lay in disuse. Recent events have brought it again into currency. The President would clear legislatures of certain members, or prevent entry as members, on the ground that they are unfavorable to the New Deal, and so it comes about that we are in the midst of what the newspapers conveniently call a "purge".

Administrative shafts are directed against Sen. George, of Georgia. Of him Mr. Roosevelt says that he lacks that constant fighting attitude in favor of the broad objectives of the party which is necessary to carry out the plans approved by the voters in 1932 and 1936; and that it is clear that there should be cooperation between the President and members of his own political brotherhood.

Senator Smith, of South Carolina, is under a cloud, but the President has not decided whether he will return to that state, to aid the opponent of the popular and militant Cotton Ed. He has not committed himself on the subject of White House help for Sen. Duffy, of Wisconsin, whose path is obstructed by Progressive activities directed by Mr. LaFollette.

Senator Tydings, of Maryland, gets a sharp and outright dig, in that it is the attitude of the President that "he wants to run with Roosevelt prestige and the money of his conservative Republican friends both on his side." As to Rep. O'Connor, of New York he is one of those who "week in and week out, labors to tear down New Deal strength and pick up New Deal legislation".

Such are the indictments under which a number of prominent persons in the President's political camp stand. Their pleas are "not guilty", at least so far as unfitness for office is concerned. Several have stated boldly that they accept the challenge. The voters constitute the jury. Their verdict is awaited with interest.

Oliver Cromwell was strong on purges, but the people got tired of them and finally exhumed his body and set up his head on a pole, as an expression of disapproval. That shot has been selected from the Republican locker. Picking a musket from the Democratic New Deal arsenal, there is something essentially noble in a soul of high aim, honest purpose, concern for the welfare of its fellowmen, and strength to remove obstructionists, even though they may be personal friends. Having thus tried the ammunition of both sides in harmless target practice, the choice of weapons and the actual fighting are left to column writers having a political and partisan mission to fulfill.

During the past week, various localities and persons have received good news, Czechoslovakia can blow out the candle and take a snooze, Mr. Mussolini having suggested to Mr. Hitler that he had better law off, for the time being, at least. A new law in Greece provides that the eyes of the people of Athens shall not be blind by street signs that are too bright. Mr. Garner has been assured that he will be the next President. Mr. Barkley has been assured that he will be next President. The navy will be supplied with additional officers to keep pace with the building program. Those in the middle brackets will be given a larger share in the paying of taxes. Finally the real, hundred percent native-born Americans, namely the Indians, have not been forgotten. New jails are going to be built on many reservations.

Man Travels With Family Of Five, Pulling Wagon

Jonesboro, Ark., Aug. 22.—Dave Sweet, 73 years old, pulled into Jonesboro yesterday with his family of five. He said he started in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas on March 15, pulling in his two-wheeled wagon his three sons, ages 6, 3 and 2, and all his possessions, with his wife and 13-year-old daughter walking.

The wagon is about 10 feet long and was built on an old automobile frame. The wheels, which once had tires on them, have been stripped to the bare rims.

Sweet stated that he is a finished woodsmith and a blacksmith, but said that his efforts to secure steady employment have been of no avail. He indicated that he would visit the Courthouse here, where he said he expected to

Y Hands Co. K League Pennant; Hiway Clinches American Title

Road Makers Beat Flower Basket, 3-0

Highway's 3-0 conquest of the Flower Basket Monday night, making five hits pay big dividends, clinched the American League pennant for the Road Makers.

With only a game left for each team to play, Highway stands three full games ahead of the Flower Basket, who, two games behind the leaders before the game, had a mathematical chance of tying for the lead.

This is the third league championship in the past four seasons for the Highway, who also was city champion in 1935 and 1937. Dates for the regular schedule having passed with last Friday's games, the softball teams are now playing off postponed games. The Highway-Flower Basket match was one held over from May 19.

Threats by Flower Basket were nipped on three occasions when men had advanced to third base but could not complete the voyage. Highway got its start in the first inning. Herb Bandy walked, advanced on a passed ball and gained a run on Bruce's single. Kuehn's two-base hit scored Bruce. It was in the fourth that Kuehn singled, went to second on a wild toss and to third on a play to first, coming in on an error.

Jimmy Law allowed four hits, not more than one per inning, and fanned eight. Fansler yielded five hits.

The Shoe Factory decided definitely that Hollingsworth would occupy the cellar in the other American League game, winning, 10-7. The Druggists outbit the Shoe Makers, seven to five, and got 10 walks to six for the ISCO, but seven errors by the losers spelled defeat.

It looked like a Hollingsworth evening in the first inning. Two hits and five walks, aided by three ISCO errors, gave the Druggists five runs. Hollingsworth gathered only two runs after that, but the Shoe Factory gathered momentum as time went on, picking up four runs in the fourth and two each in the fifth and sixth, not making over one hit in any of these innings.

Carl Eaton and Wilbur Ensor, who got walks when they did not connect for hits, batted for a perfect count.

Jaycees Top Legion, 15-10, Tie for Lead

While other leagues in the city decided definitely this week who would be their champs, the Civic League race went into a tie for the crown Tuesday night with a 15-10 victory by the Junior Chamber of Commerce over the Legion.

Having won 10 games and lost three, the teams must have a play-off to decide who's who in the "ham" league.

During the first four innings, the Jaycees played big league softball. They blanked the Ex-Servicemen, did not make an error and allowed only two men to get on bases, on two singles. Meantime, the Legion was playing loosely and the Junior Chamber batting heavily, gathering 11 hits in this portion of the game and

Truckers Fall In First of Seventh, 9-7

On a five-hit explosion in the last inning, Jack's Y handed the National League pennant to the National Guard on a silver platter by turning back Potashnick's bid for the title at the softball grounds Tuesday night, 9-7. Had the Truckers won this game, they would have closed their regular season tied with Co. K for the league lead, necessitating a play-off.

As a result of this momentous game, the Guard and the Highway—same as last year—will lock horns for the city championship, which the Road Makers won in 1937.

Until the fateful seventh, it looked like the Truckers would come through, for they scored six runs before the Y found home plate and went into the final frame ahead, 7-5.

Stacy's double was worth a score in the second inning when Matthews singled. Acord chalked up two more with his home run. In the third, Kindred and Sells singled, Stacy was secure on an error and Clippard's double wound up the second three-run show.

Y STARTS UP LADDER

It was a two-bagger epidemic in the fourth that started the Y on its road to success. After Mow's single, Sutton, Hill, Zacher and Dick Swaim all parked the ball boosting the count to 11-0 before the Legion went to work.

The Legion chalked up its 10 runs in the last three innings, on seven hits and eight Jaycee errors. The Legion men muffed 10 tries.

out far enough for half-way ticks, and the first four men scored. Next inning, Mow singled and added another score on an error, making it 6-5. The Truckers then pulled away again when Simpson hit a two-bagger and Matthews' safety helped him in, in the fifth also.

Things went along peacefully until the seventh. Mahew led off the parade with a single. Watson followed with another, and Lancaster gained first as Mahew was caught from shortstop to Catcher. Hale singled, Sutton got a two-base blow and Hill rapped a safety, all of which counted for four runs in the inning which made history for a team not even playing—the National Guard.

Y batters turned in 13 hits for their team, compared with 10 by the Truckers. Fielding by the Y also took its toll, as only one error was made, while the losers made five, although only one of these was made during the deciding rally.

"Take it from me," says Maxie, "STAG BEER is a lifesaver on a picnic!"

"Would you believe it! But farmer Fieldman sure was after me just before this picture was taken! Otto and I were having a picnic on his farm and I was having fun chasing his chickens. That made farmer Fieldman mad... and he gave me a lecture that made my tail curl! But Otto smoothed him down with a smooth, cooling bottle of Stag Beer. Now we're all friends—and maybe he'll let me chase his chickens some more. He looks that cheerful."

● Put two bottles of Stag in the basket for each person on the picnic. Open it at eating time—and you've got a treat the gang will remember. Ordinary "sweet" beers (not dry, like Stag) just can't refresh you the way this famous old lager does. Stag is the beer that's made from a generations-old formula—a true, mild, light lager that has been slow-brewed from pure grains. It's uniformly sparkling, uniformly cooling and satisfying. But you don't have to wait for a picnic to try Stag! Call your nearby Stag dealer today, and have him send over a case!

Will Speak on Crime Sources

Elder John B. Huffman will lecture in the band stand at Malone Park next Saturday afternoon, Aug. 27, at 2 o'clock, on "What are the Foundations of Sin and the Terrible Crime Wave in America?" One of these major causes which he will show, and it is not the booze demon, either, will surprise you when he produces the proof.

Men, women and children of Sikeston and surrounding country are invited to hear this lecture. Parents of America need to be awakened as never before. There is a drift toward infidelity, atheism, gross unbelief, anarchy—and total depravity—and demoralization and crumbling of civilization.

This lecture should be heard by every good citizen in the three adjoining counties, according to Elder Hoffman.

Sikeston Midshipmen Will Visit Home

Midshipman Hart will be a senior, and Midshipman Mitchell will begin his second year.

SALES MEAN JOBS
YOUR UTILITY COMPANIES
Exemplify The Spirit Of This Campaign!

"SALES MEAN JOBS" is a national crusade to revive business. Through constructive sales work—learning and filling the needs of people who can and will buy—this crusade is creating new employment in factories, stores, mines and transportation.

When you buy, you give work to somebody. More buying—more employment. That's the spirit of "Sales Mean Jobs." Your public utility companies heartily endorse this movement—because they have been able to keep up employment through your use of their services.

Your use of electricity, gas and water means jobs for your fellow-citizens who are employed by your public utility companies and their jobs make them able to buy from local merchants and farmers. It means, also, purchases of materials by these companies—more jobs for the people working in the factories making these materials.

So it is in every business—more business means more jobs. The idea behind the present campaign is to intensify sales effort—to stimulate buying among the 44 million Americans who have jobs and some 24 billion dollars in the bank—an idea that should restore prosperity if everyone will give it enthusiastic support. If people who can buy will just buy what they need now it will start the factories and open the way to re-employment.

It was our pleasure to be present at the Kelso picnic supper Wednesday evening where a bountiful feast was spread. Everything that goes to make a good meal was placed on the table. We were glad we attended.

Elitch and Parker, Heavy Boys, Win

The little men took it on the chin Wednesday night at the Legion arena. The little men were Frankie Hill, matched against Nick Elitch, and Tiger Long, who grappled with Jim Parker. Both the big boys are from New York City, and each weighs 200 pounds while their opponents are down the scales several notches.

Elitch used his efficient back breaker to take the first and third falls from Hill.

Parker played cat-and-mouse with Long for a while and came back, like Elitch, for the big killing.

The Elitch-Hill match went into choking and slugging on schedule. They divided on a number of leg and arm holds and in the closing minutes began fouling. Elitch won the first with a back breaker in 19 minutes. Hill took the second with a flying tackle in four minutes. The New York Greek then demonstrated to the Iowa man that he would make pretty fair kindling wood. Elitch used his back breaker in 10 minutes to win the deciding fall. The last fray was marked with some artistic hair-pulling, in which Nick got the worst end of it.

A Lesson in Zoology—For Drivers

A car is like a cat, according to a new highway safety booklet entitled "Death Begins at 40" recently issued by The Travelers Insurance Company.

It is quiet, except for a low and pleasing purr. Its padded tires are like padded feet. It has powerful eyes that shine at night. And when it is allowed to run wild, it gives an awful screech at the moment before it does its victim to death.

At 25 miles an hour, it is like a pussy-cat. It may scratch you up in an accident, but it isn't likely to kill you. Few fatal accidents, it has been found from official reports, occur at low speeds.

At 50 miles an hour, it is not twice but four times as powerful. Like a bobcat, it is quite able to inflict great damage.

And at 75 miles an hour it is not three times but nine times as powerful as at 25. It is nine times as hard to stop, nine times as hard to turn, nine times as deadly.

Thinking of speed in these terms will help you to keep a lighter toe on the accelerator.

First Game Of City Series Monday Night

Twilight in the softball season finds the directors winding up loose ends and preparing for the big annual city series between the Highway and Co. K, the first game of which will be played this Monday night, Aug. 29.

The big All-Star game between picked teams of the American and National Leagues, chosen by fans, will be played on Tuesday, the following night.

The city series will go into the third week in September, or later, because of the American Legion convention at Cape Girardeau, Sept. 4 to 7, when Troopers Melvin Dace and John Tandy, of the Highway team, will be on duty at the meet, which will also draw from here many prospective series fans. Time between games will give pitchers a rest.

This week Dan McCoy's team will play a select team from the city leagues, and Highway and International Shoe will tangle in a non-league game.

The championship of the Civic League will be decided Friday, Aug. 26, when the Jaycees and Legion mix. The teams are tied for the lead. The Lions will play the Millers the same night.

Pennants in the American and National Leagues having been decided, remaining games among lower teams will not be played off, according to Commissioner Harold Ansell, and present standings are final.

The first team to win three games in the city series will be champ. On the same ticket each evening of the series play, a team of one league will meet a team from the other league according to the final standing of each. The team named first is home team.

The series schedule: Monday, Aug. 29—Flower Basket vs. Potashnick, Co. K vs. Highway.

Thursday, Sept. 8—Int'l Shoe Co. vs. Jack's Y, Highway vs. Co. K.

Monday, Sept. 12—Hollingsworth vs. Odd Fellows, Co. K vs. Highway.

Further series games, if necessary, will be announced.

Campaign for Road Program Opened at Sedalia Meeting

Hugh Stephens Outlines New Ten-Year Plan to Be Voted on in November.

Missouri voters were urged, at a mass meeting at the State Fair at Sedalia on August 25, to vote "YES" on Proposition No. 6, the proposed new ten-year road program, which will appear on the ballot at the general election on November 8. The mass meeting, opening the road campaign, was held in conjunction with "Good Roads Day" at the fair. The principal address was delivered by Hugh Stephens, of Jefferson City, general chairman of the campaign, who outlined the necessity and objectives of the new road plan. Mr. Stephens' address followed:

The time has come to decide whether we shall, after 1938, drift along with an old program, partially obsolete, have no program, or make one to meet new requirements. For over six years, this organization has been working on recommendations which it is now ready to present.

Program's Strong Backing
There has been more time spent by more people, with more State and Federal research and experience in the writing of this program, than all previous ones combined. It represents the work of a committee of 9 (1 dissenting), a larger committee of 145 and a mass meeting of 900. Committees and engineering staffs of our leading Missouri colleges have helped. The plan has the unanimous endorsement of the State Highway Commission and the engineers of the State Highway Department.

In order to think straight and vote intelligently on Proposition No. 6, we must keep in mind that the development of a highway system is not a responsibility of the taxpayers as a class, but the owners of motor cars. Motor car owners furnish all the investment and pay all the costs. They are the direct beneficiaries and they should decide what highways are worth to them and how much they are willing to pay for them. An effort has been made that we should propose no added tax, because taxes are unpopular. That may be good psychology for those who want to defeat this program, but I question whether it is good ethics.

If a farmer has an extravagant family it will not help his predicament if, because his family spends too much, he refuses to consider improvements and money saving equipment for the operation of his farm.

The motorist saves annually more than $140 driving on a high type road compared to an unimproved one, and $100 per year on a low type road compared to an unimproved one. Refusing to take that into account, because in other fields taxes run high, is reasoning that won't stand up.

When the state quit paying highway costs out of property taxes and turned that cost over to the motor car owner, it made the State Highway System virtually a public utility for the use of which we pay gas taxes to the extent we utilize the highways. If we do not use them, we pay nothing. This is not true of other taxes which run on, whether or no. We do not pay gas taxes to the tax collector but to oil companies. The retail prices of gasoline are not fixed. They vary from year to year, and from state to state. We are paying less per gallon now than before we had any gas tax. The gas tax is not in the category with other taxes.

The Gas Tax
However, for some reason the item of 1c change in gas tax has been exploited, so much that many may not be in the mood to hear about the main features of the program until that one is out of the way.

It is not a question whether the gas tax shall be raised. It is a question of who shall raise it and how much. The Legislature has already, two years before the expiration of present laws, revealed determination to increase the tax, not only 3c but higher. At the last session, a bill was passed for a 3c rate which has been held up by referendum.

The pressure to increase the gas tax is irresistible because the craving for more highways is insatiable. The weakness in the legislative method is that no plan for expenditure is incorporated. The one thing I cannot understand is why those who circulated the referendum opposed a legislative increase in gas tax because it was uncompensated by a program and opposed this proposition in spite of the fact that it has a program.

Still Higher Taxes if Plan Fails

If the people of this State neglect the opportunity in November to clinch and fix the taxes on motor cars with definite stipulations as to expenditure of funds, the entire highway program in Missouri will be thrown wide open for tinkering, which will maneuver Missouri into the position of those states with 5, 6 and 7c gas taxes, with wasteful expenditure of funds. Don't think that cannot happen here. We will either have such a condition or a merry-go-round of legislative acts and referendums which will produce a state of chaos in what has heretofore been orderly and successful procedure.

Without adjustment of the gas tax, we must surrender from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 per year of federal aid, to which we are entitled which we pay federal taxes to produce but which we are unable to match with present income.

Unless we adjust the gas tax, there cannot be built, on an average, more than two or three miles of farm-to-market roads per county per year for a long time to come.

ROAD CAMPAIGN CHAIRMAN

HUGH STEPHENS

With the increase, it would be possible to immediately put 5,000 miles under maintenance and patrol, an average of nearly 50 miles per county. This is an 80% increase of the farm-to-market system and a mileage equal to nearly 75% of the entire State road system of Missouri, provided for in the first bond issue.

We think we have built our highways on a two cent gas tax but we have not. The explanation of our low gas tax is a period of heavy borrowing. But for bonds, gas taxes would have been much more than 8c per gallon. Bonds are exhausted and payments are falling due in such amount that construction funds must decline from over $20,000,000 per year to about $7,000,000.

Opposition's Exaggeration
All the furor about the so-called "hike" in the gas tax is, to a certain extent, splitting hairs over a small item. How the motor car owner can be burdened to the point of great suffering by the imposition of a tax, which means less than 2c per day, is more than one can understand. The average consumption of gasoline in 1934 was 67.8 gallons per vehicle, taking into account large and small cars, which means about 12 cents per day on the average pleasure car. This increase is fixed and limited to a ten-year period.

License fees are not increased or decreased and cannot be because decrease in license fees must be accompanied by an increase in gas taxes, or the benefits of the program must be surrendered. License fees could not be reduced and gas tax increased because of the heavy penalty put upon cars running up large mileage in cities, and operated the major portion of their time off the highway system.

What the Program Offers
For the first time, we have a plan which definitely allocates highway funds to different classes of roads. Those outside of cities are hereafter to be in two groups, one the trunk highways and the other the State supplementary highways. These, together, constitute the rural highway system. The third classification, known as city supplementary highways, is composed of those portions of through State highways, which traverse cities of more than 2,500 population. In the apportionment of funds, 80% will go to rural highways, and 20% to the city supplementary system to pay for both construction and maintenance.

Farm-to-Market Roads
The main addition to existing mileage is in farm-to-market roads, known in the plan as the State supplementary system. 5,000 miles will be added outright and funds for that purpose will be usable according to traffic needs, as revealed by the Highway Planning Survey. This is the most outstanding proposal for the extension of farm-to-market roads made in any state. In extent, it is as large as possible to be eligible for Federal feeder road aid.

The plan for farm-to-market roads will conserve W. P. A. road building in the State. It will make possible the construction of more substantial highways where traffic demands are great and less expensive highways in other localities. The plan carries with it a definite mileage for each county.

Cities Provided For
Since the beginning of State highway building, the right to expend money on State highways through cities of over 2,500 has been withheld. This discrimination is eliminated by the new plan. This will not only mean facilities for those civil subdivisions, which pay approximately 80% of all highway taxes, but may possibly set up for each community a valuable new basis of credit for the negotiation of loans and federal grants, which those cities have not heretofore possessed. The exact possibilities of this are not as yet definitely determined.

Based on Survey
This program is based upon the findings of the State Highway Planning Survey. It limits the expenditure of motor-car taxes to highways only. It is a pay-as-you-go plan, which will put $100,000,000 worth of new roads into the system, take care of modernization and maintenance 100% while we are bringing our debt of $135,000,000 down to $39,000,000.

We are retaining for farmers' refunds on gasoline used for farm purposes. We do not interfere with the rights of cities to levy their own local taxes. It was impossible to devise any plan to change that system, which would be acceptable to as many as half of the cities of the State.

New Madrid CCC Camp Happenings

Fourth Blood Transfusion Given By a CCC Enrollee

A knotty question, without known precedent, in intriguing the minds of the members of the New Madrid CCC Camp these days, namely: How many pints of CCC blood does it take to make a CCC member out of a civilian without formal enrollment into the Civilian Conservation Corps?

David Robbins, son of J. K. Robbins, New Madrid County retort, received his fourth blood transfusion from the veins of a member of the New Madrid Camp last Monday. This member was Roy Bland of Fisk, who remained at the hospital in Cape Girardeau for four days last week as a "stand-by" in case of a relapse. On the preceding Tuesday, Aug. 23, Vincent Hovenstein of Farnfield was the donor. He was preceded by two other members of the camp, Harley Choat and James Lawson, and by Jimmy Albach, a resident of New Madrid.

Young Robbins appears to be gaining slowly against the typhoid fever from which he is suffering. The transfusion on Tuesday was to help him hold his gains against the infection and to counteract a too sudden drop in temperature.

ANGELS CONQUER

LA FORGE TEAM, 9-4

The New Madrid Angels took a game from their neighboring rivals, La Forge, last Sunday afternoon, 9-4. The game was played at La Forge. A return game will be played at the New Madrid CCC Drainage Camp on September 11. The battery for the Angels was Ralph Taylor and Bob Barney. Taylor was hit on the head in the seventh inning by a thrown ball and knocked-out, but recovered and finished the game, getting a total of eleven strike-outs. The score by innings:

New Madrid CCC 001 060 002-9
La Forge 000 120 100-4

The Angels journey to Parma for a game next Sunday, then are hosts to the Malden team on September 4.

Captain Robert G. Johnston, commanding officer of CCC Co. 3729, has received orders to reduce his company strength to 200 enrolled members. This will affect only one or two boys at the New Madrid CCC Drainage Camp. The excess members will be transferred to the Hayti.

The clearing crew of the New Madrid, CCC Drainage Camp has started clearing on Ditch No. 62 of the Little River Drainage District, about three miles west of Heokerton. Roads in the vicinity of this ditch are scarce, and the boys will have to do considerable walking getting into and away from their work.

Ensign and Mrs. Frank M. Christiansen of the Paris, Mo. CCC Camp were guests of his brother and wife, Ensign and Mrs. George M. Christiansen, last week end at the New Madrid CCC Drainage Camp. The two wives drove to Missouri last spring from their homes in Seattle, Washington.

Mrs. Alvin Kneibert, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lewis and two sons of Jackson, were dinner guests in the home of Mrs. Walter Clymer Sunday.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS

Our 40th Year in Southeast Missouri

WOMEN HAVE BEEN TALKIN'

Charles Broadway Rouse millionaire blind wholesaler, used to talk a lot to his distributors about advertising. One thing he said to them about 40 years ago I remember in detail and have always found it true. It was this; "Give 'em Bargains Boys—if you do, the men will talk about your stores al day and the women all night". So far our Anniversary Sale has broken all August records of our firm in sales volume. We attribute that satisfactory result largely to the facts that we had the ammunition as advertised—women soon learned about it—and then they talked and talked. Thank you ladies.

WHAT DOES IT PROVE?

Certainly not that we are any wiser or better merchants than others all about us—but it does prove that business activity in S. E. Missouri is not dead as charged by many—but merely lying dormant—waiting to be stirred and set in motion. A vigorous advertising campaign—based on facts—with no exaggerations or phony guarantees—all backed up by working men who work to a goal instead of watching the clock—that is what brought this record business in August. There is no patent on this program. Other merchants may well afford to sharpen their wits and go after trade further away from home. In that case our firm might profit some from people brought here by neighbors in business—just as brother merchants did in our sale. The rule works both ways.

THIS LAST WEEK

Our boys are "putting the big pot in the little one" from now till next Tuesday evening at which time the Anniversary Sale comes to an end. So many new items have come in and been added to our Anniversary List that the stock seems almost entirely different. Every prospective buyer is urged to action during the remaining few days if they desire to share in benefits. For your information loads and loads of new merchandise have been added to what we already owned—New Living Room outfits—New Bedrooms sets—New Mattresses—New Rugs—New Breakfast Sets—New Dining Outfits—New Heating Stoves—New Ranges New Frigidaire Products consisting of ranges—stokers and Frigidaires—New Philco 1939 Radios—New Emerson Baby Grand Radios—New Chenille Bed Spreads—new this, that n'everthing to make buyers happy.

FIRST FEEDING FACTS
Bringing up children is a lot like growing a garden. It takes a good start and a deal of patient weeding to produce results. Sometimes it seems the bad habits crop out before the good ones have a chance to get started. Take feeding habits, for instance. It's so easy to make a false move, introduce a new food the wrong way, fumble the technique of feeding. And right there before you know it, you've laid the foundation for a strong-rooted prejudice. If two-year-old Johnnie turns up his nose at the family vegetables, the chances are he got off to a bad start on his own strained vegetables when he was four or five months old.

This business of feeding a baby must be handled carefully step by step. You have to teach a baby to nurse in the first place, and you must keep right on teaching, calmly and firmly, until he has included all the new techniques of eating involved in an adequate diet for a growing child. It is those beginning lessons in eating that are the most important for they lay the real foundation for baby's future food habits.

At first, of course, a baby's diet is limited to liquids which slip right down the throat and are easily swallowed. It's no great problem to handle that much successfully if the baby is doing well on his milk or milk formula. But when you reach the next stage, when semi-solids are introduced as a prelude to regular, solid family fare, you come to the cross roads that determine many of his good or bad feeding habits. It is important, then, that you manage this period as skillfully and smoothly as possible.

A good way to do this is to teach baby the new feeding technique involved in semi-solid foods early. Liquids, of course, are sucked through a nipple, but semi-solids are best handled from a spoon. So, it is well to familiarize your child with the use of the spoon soon. You can do this by feeding him his orange juice, tomato juice and cod liver oil from a spoon. Many physicians recommend beginning these supplementary feedings as early as the third or fourth week of the baby's life. If you teach the baby to take food from a spoon that early, you will have already mastered one of the hardest problems involved. Begin, too, by serving very small amounts, according to your doctor's instructions, and increase gradually until the baby is taking his full quota. Then, by the time you are ready to introduce semi-solid strained foods, the baby will be quite accustomed to handling food from a spoon.

Here again, when strained foods are started, you must begin with small quantities—just a tiny taste on the tip of a spoon until the baby has built up a genuine liking for the new food. You see this is an entirely new texture to the child. A young baby has very little sense of taste. It is chiefly a matter of touch with him, and this semi-solid food has a brand new feel to his tongue. It is not surprising, then, that he sometimes spits it out. But that does not necessarily mean he dislikes the food. He simply doesn't know it yet. He has never felt anything like that before so he may reject it. For this reason, many physicians recommend diluting the strained foods with milk or the milk formula at first. If these foods more nearly approximate the texture of the milk with which he is familiar, he is likely to take to them from the start. Gradually the amount of milk used can be reduced and the amount of strained food increased until the baby is taking the strained food just as it comes from the can. With patient persistence and understanding on your part, the baby will soon be able to manage this new texture satisfactorily by himself.

Another point to consider is the careful placing of a spoon in the baby's mouth. If you put the spoon too near the tip of the tongue, baby will have a hard time swallowing. On the other hand, if you place the spoon too far back in the mouth, you may strike that sensitive spot at the base of the tongue which will induce vomiting. That would be an unpleasant experience which might condition your baby against a second spoonful and build up a prejudice that you will have some difficulty in overcoming.

Be sure, too, that you introduce just one food at a time. Don't try to crowd several new varieties in the baby's menu at once. If you start on carrots, for instance, stay with carrots until you are sure the baby likes them and is taking them readily. Then you can branch out to other varieties until you have included all the strained fruits, vegetables, and cereals your physician recommends for the baby.

Great care must be taken to serve the foods at the right temperature, too. Never over-heat them or they may burn the baby's tongue. That would give baby another reason for objecting to these new foods and might be still another basis for a food prejudice. Do not season these foods either, for the ready prepared varieties have a fine, natural food flavor and a uniformly smooth consistency that requires no further embellishment to please a baby. And be sure that you introduce these new foods only when the baby is feeling well, so that he can have a normal reaction to them. Above all, be calm and patiently firm in this matter of teaching your child new eating techniques, so you may bridge this gap between infant fare and family food with real success.

200 Polish Families To Neelyville

Poplar Bluff, Aug. 22.—Two hundred Polish families will move to Butler county and till some 10,000 acres of farm land east of Neelyville, it was announced today by L. W. Wilkins, superintendent of the Polish-American Land organization in Chicago.

Ellsworth Green, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, received a telegram from Wilkins, asking if arrangements could be made here or in the vicinity of Neelyville for suitable dwelling to be used by the 200 families until they can complete plans for building their own homes.

"Have you thirty or forty houses, either in Neelyville or Poplar Bluff, available for rent until improvements are made on the land," the telegram read.

Mr. Wilkins said the Polish families are all "good farmers."

Negotiations have been under way for several months with the Polish-American organization to purchase the land in the Coon Island vicinity, and completion of this deal will mean location of some of the most progressive farmers in the middle west in this area, according to those who have been contacting them.

Green said this afternoon the housing problem would be a very difficult one to solve, since there are very few empty dwellings here.

SERMON ON MOUNT MISTRANSLATED, PHILOLOGIST SAY

Washington, Aug. 22.—Two Smithsonian Institution philologists presented evidence today to support their contention that actual teachings of Jesus in the Sermon on the Mount differ from commonly-accepted versions of the New Testament's greatest sermon.

Dr. John P. Harrington and Moses Steinberg, working from an early Aramaic fragment of that sermon, made public a translation which they said offers a new meaning for the beatitudes.

The Aramaic fragment, they said, indicates that when Jesus enunciated the beatitudes for His disciples, He was speaking strictly as a teacher, rather than pronouncing the conditions of attainment of a state of "blessedness."

On the basis of their studies, the philologists said, the proper rendition of the beatitudes would be: "Better are the poor in spirit," rather than the commonly-accepted "Blessed are the poor in spirit."

Dr. Harrington said their claim is based on a divergence in the Aramaic fragment in the originating word of the beatitudes.

HIGH SCHOOLS SHOULD SELECT NEIGHBOR DAY QUEENS

With the opening of the high schools of the county the matter of the selection of queen contestants should be taken care of immediately. Many motorists have complained to me about the hitchhikers. Their question usually is, "What shall we do with the hitch-hikers?"

My answer is: "Let him hike."

Frequently people decide to pick up hitch-hikers, stop suddenly on the road, give no warning to others behind them, and thus cause accidents.

Hitch-hikers themselves are becoming more daring daily. To avoid hitting them motorists have to turn out of their regular lane of traffic and thereby endanger other cars going in the opposite direction.

Rescue of Man in Water 3 Hours Wins Light for Life Hero Award

Attorney-General Albert A. Carmichael, of Alabama, hands a Light for Life Foundation certificate to Edwin Blalock, Sr. Looking on is Francis M. Ellis, whom Blalock saved from drowning.

HONORED for saving the life of a man who had clung for hours to an overturned rowboat and was in danger of going down through exhaustion and numbness, Edwin Blalock, Sr., of Montgomery, Alabama, has been awarded a Life Saving Certificate by the Light for Life Foundation, Inc.

The certificate was presented to Blalock, a postal clerk and amateur aviator, on behalf of the Foundation by Albert A. Carmichael, attorney-general of Alabama, at a ceremony in Montgomery. Among those present was the man whose life Blalock saved, Francis M. Ellis, also of Montgomery.

Attorney-General Carmichael, in congratulating Blalock on being the first Alabamian to win a Light for Life award, lauded him for his "magnificent exploit." By winning one of the ten certificates given annually by the Foundation, Blalock becomes eligible for consideration for a gold medal to be presented at the end of the year.

Ellis, a business man, went fishing last March with a companion in the waters of Lock 13, an artificial lake between two power dams near Montgomery. This lake is 15 miles long and at places 75 feet deep. As night approached, their boat became swamped, and the two jumped into the water. Ellis' companion was drowned; it was believed he struck his head on the bottom of the boat when he came up.

Ellis swam to the boat and grabbed it. He had put his flashlight into his pocket when he jumped, and with this he began blinking a signal for aid. He kept this up for nearly three hours before a motorist saw the light and summoned Blalock, who was spending the week-end in a nearby cabin. The night was inky dark, and the waters where he put off were full of logs. At any moment his own boat could have been smashed, leaving him in the same predicament as Ellis. Others on shore urged Blalock not to undertake the dangerous mission, but he went ahead.

During the certificate presentation ceremony, which was broadcast, Ellis said: "If Mr. Blalock hadn't come to my rescue just when he did, I am quite certain I wouldn't be here today. I had held on to that boat for almost three hours. I was weary, cold and almost numb. Two or three times I had thought I would have to give up — that I couldn't hold on any longer. I know I would have had to let go in a few minutes if help hadn't come along when it did."

Warns 533,000

Federal Employees

Washington, Aug. 22.—The Civil Service Commission warned 533,000 federal employees today against engaging in any city, county, state or national election campaign.

The commission's notice, which carried the word "Warning" in black letters 2 inches high, advised persons employed in the government's classified service that they risked immediate loss of their jobs if they so much as wore campaign buttons or displayed stickers on their automobiles.

Although restrictions against certain political activities are imposed against all federal employees, classified and unclassified, the poster emphasized that classified employees (those who have passed competitive examinations) were prohibited from engaging in any political activity whatsoever in behalf of any party or candidate, whether in a primary or a regular election.

Among the activities forbidden to such employees, the commission said, were:

Serving on any political committee.

Organizing, conducting or addressing any political meeting or rally.

Engaging in public political discussions.

Manifesting "offensive" activity at the polls.

Assisting in counting the vote or serving as election officer.

Distributing campaign literature or circulating political petitions.

Becoming "prominently identified" with any political movement, party or faction.

Unclassified employees were not mentioned in the notice, but the commission said they were prohibited by another statute from using their official authority to influence an election.

Person Must Vote in Own Precinct

Jefferson City, Aug. 24.—A voter registered in one precinct may not return there to vote on election day if he has since moved into another precinct, the Attorney General's office has ruled.

The opinion was asked by H. D. Allison, Buchanan County Clerk. He cited the case of a person who had registered under St. Joseph's new permanent registration system and had thereafter moved without going to the County Clerk's office to make the change of address on his registration card.

The County Clerk asked if such a person could vote in the original precinct. Assistant Attorney General J. F. Allebach held that each citizen could vote only in the precinct in which he lives.

Liquor Advertising in Windows Banned

Jefferson City, Aug. 24.—Retail liquor dealers may not display in their windows advertising showing persons holding containers of intoxicating liquor or placards with brands of liquor on them, the Attorney General's office has ruled.

Assistant Attorney General Tyre W. Burton said the State Liquor Control Supervisor had issued a regulation banning such displays and held the supervisor had power to make such a regulation under the following provision of the liquor control act:

"It shall be unlawful to display in any street window or show window any intoxicating liquor, or any package, bottle or container bearing the label or brand of any intoxicating liquor."

The opinion was asked by Prosecutor Roy Kay of Monticau County.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Henderson and son, Giles, of Flint, Mich., arrived last Friday for a visit with Mrs. Henderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arbaugh, and family.
